HOW ANIMALS TALK.

BIRDS AND ANTS.

Scientists long ago agreed that every bird and fish, insect and reptile, had a language, perfectly understood by its fellows, and capable of conveying news of every possible condition that might affect individual or community. Writing in the New York Tribune, George Byers says that a moment's thought shows such must be the case: else how could the aerial armies of the birds cover thousands of miles in the fall and spring migrations, across seas, and over mountains, in many cases never before traversed?

The case of the bird is especially remarkable. On dark and stormy nights observing naturalists have heard vast flocks calling to one another far overhead. Perhaps at such times the wisest of the feathered pilgrims are warning the inexperienced to avoid the glare of lighthouse lanterns, against which so many myriads of birds are lured to fall dead on the sea-washed rocks.

Oddly enough, children are almost unanimous in their belief that birds sing with their bills. The notes are, in fact, produced deep down the windpipe, at a point where it branches off into bronchial tubes that convey air to and from the lungs. At this point is fixed a delicate little membrane, which produces the note of every bird that flies. Of course, variations in the size and skill of individual possessors account for the wondrous differences in the sounds given forth. At the same time, it seems wonderful that the same instrument will produce the raven's hoarse croak, the shrill whistle of the sandpiper, the boom of the blivern, the rasping call of the porridge, and the glorious liquid song of the nightingale, celebrated by poets in all ages.

Most birds have a baby language of their own which is not used after they are grown up. By it they make known their wants, fears, and whereabouts to their busy parents; and it is amazing how far off the seemingly feeble voice of tiny grouse or curlew can be heard. None knew better than White of Selborne that birds have a very definite language for the benefit and convenience of each species, and also for communicating a common danger. I proved this in amusing fashion by putting a stuffed owl close to the nests of swallows, wrens, and blackbirds, all of which contained greedy little ones.

THE BLACKBIRD'S LANGUAGE.

The blackbird's ringing "Spink, spink, spink!" is capable of all kinds of subtle variations. It says "Good-night" and "Good-morning" with it, but its neighbours pay little heed. Should a cat stealthily approach a favourite roost about bed time, however, out ring its notes loud and fast as a fire alarm, and every feathered colonist is instantly alert.

In the lonely Island of St. Kilda, in the Outer Hebrides, the vast flocks of gannets breeding on the rocks have a sentinel to keep watch at night, while the rest sleep. Strangely enough, precisely the same system obtains among great herds of elephant and antelope, in Central Africa. The sleeping gannets are captured by fowling in the night, and wary indeed must they be to delude the sentinel bird. The slightest move of a dislodged stone on the face of these precipices, and up rises the sentinel bird, with his loud "Beero, beero!" In such event the fowler remains quite still, with cap drawn over his face, and body tightly pressed against the cliff face. After awhile the sentinel imagines he is mistaken, and calls out, "Gorok, gorok!" which evidently means, "All is well, friends; sorry I troubled you. Go to sleep again." But, should the intruder be betrayed, the entire colony take wing into the night, uttering angry cries of "Beero, beero, beero!"

Many have heard the astonishingly plain "Go back, go back!" of the grouse, and the male bird's emphatic "Cock, cock, cock!" as a signal to be off when danger threatens. These birds are most talkative on a fresh October morning, but have little to say if the day is going to turn out wet.

Special call notes are used for keeping families of birds together while hunting for insects among foliage and branches;—and the long-tailed tit signals to each other all day long by the low sweet little "See, see, see!" The language of some species is most unexpected. Thus the common buzzard will circle high overhead while its nest is being rifled, uttering a cry like the mewling of a cat. The turtle dove's note is like a frog's croak, and the hiss of one of the tits, sitting on its nest in a hole in the tree, is so snakelike that many a boy has been frightened away from it.

The baby chicks of some species, in some marvellous way know the call and alarm notes of their parents the moment they leave the shell. I watched a number of redshanks on a rubbish heap in the spring; and the birds would shrink danger to their chicks for an hour after they had watched me go away. The downy youngsters would obey the call and remain perfectly still, though they must have found it most wearisome, being especially active little creatures. Now and then a disobedient little tufted head would pop up, and the parent would fly close overhead, uttering a loud ringing note, sounding exactly like "Down, down, down!"

The lower orders of animals, especially insects, communicate by signs. The organs employed are the feelers, as in bees and ants, which, like other creatures living in society, require a medium of communication. In a well peopled and thriving hive each bee has its own work—some attend the young, others make cells. Take away the queen and in an hour or so the workers appear greatly agitated. They give up their work and traverse the hive bewildered. Meeting a companion en route they have been seen mutually to cross their antennae, and each communicates the national loss to its neighbour by a gentle tap with these organs. The one which has just learned the news in turn becomes agitated, and runs over the cells, crossing and striking others.

HOW ANIMALS TALK.

A DISABLED QUEEN.

The great naturalist Huber amputated some of the antennae, with curious results. The queen ran about the combs, dropped her eggs anywhere, and became quite helpless. The workers neglected their labour, ran into corners and at length quitted the hive never to return. Thus, it is evident that the antennae are the organs of communication, and as further proof the sentinels may be seen patrolling on a moonlight night with these sensitive feelers put forth. And should some unhappy moth try to steal into the habitation a signal is given, and a body of guards rush out to chastise the intruder.

DR. FRANKLIN ONCE FOUND SOME

on molasses. He shook them out, and suspended the pot by a string to the ceiling. It chanced that one ant remained; and after eating its fill this one found its way up the string, crawled to the ceiling, and thence along the wall to its nest. In less than half an hour a great company of ants sallied out of their hole to the ceiling, and crept along the string into the pot. And this was done by others, until the sweet stuff was all consumed. One file of insects ran up the string from the molasses, while another passed down to it. Dr. Franklin inferred, naturally enough, that the first ant had communicated to its comrades the new position of the pot, and directed them to the only accessible road to it.

Corroboration is furnished by Jesse, who says that Nature has undoubtedly "given to ants a language of communication by the contact of their antennae. With these organs they render mutual assistance in labour and danger, discover lost routes, and make each other acquainted with their necessities." The same authority says, "If a single wasp discover a deposit of honey or other food, he will return to his nest and impart the good news to his comrades, who will rally forth in great numbers to partake of the fare."

A most amusing instance of communication between insects was that of a scarabaeus beetle. It was making a little pellet of soil to receive its egg, and had laboriously rolled it up a little hillcock, where it fell into a hole. All efforts on the part of the beetle to extricate the pellet failed; and after several ineffectual trials, the insect went off, and soon returned with three companions. All four now joined in the work with strategy and tactics, and succeeded in pushing out the pellet; whereupon after greetings the three assistants retired, and left the original insect to its own labours.

That animals generally communicate with one another and express ideas and wants admits of no question; though precisely how it is effected is beyond human observation. A comic case was that of a well-bred terrier belonging to a timber merchant of St. Louis. He left his dog at a small country inn, and when he returned for it the landlady told him it was lost. It seems that the little terrier had quarrelled with the big house dog, and been so worried and bitten that it was thought it would never recover. But four days later it crawled out of the yard, and disappeared for a whole week. To the amusement of the people at the inn, it returned with a bound much bigger than its enemy, on whom both of them fell forthwith, and all but destroyed it. It was proved the little terrier had travelled over 80 miles to coax away the big dog in question for the purpose of assisting him in resenting the injury done.

The naturalist Marcgrave gives a curious account of the curaine monkey, whose assemblies and deliberations he watched in the jungle. "Every day," he says, "they congregate to receive instructions. A leader sits high up on the tree, and signals with his hand to the rest to sit round. When he sees them placed, he begins an unmistakable discourse in loud staccato tones, and when he has finished he signs with his hand that the rest may reply. Instantly the babel begins, until by another signal they are silenced. And shortly afterwards the monkey parliament breaks up."

THIS NIGHTINGALE COULD COUNT. Lichtenburg mentions a nightingale which could count at least up to three. Every day he gave it three meal worms, one at a time. When it had finished one, it returned immediately for another, but after the third it flew away, showing that the feast was over.

But the quaintest instance of animal language, (says the New York paper) comes from the Japanese province of Salatiga, where the Dutch colonists have suffered much from the ravages of grey monkeys, that destroyed their coffee plantations. The Dutch sub-governor recommended strychnine; and accordingly the favourite fruits of the monkeys were heavily doped with this poison and deposited in the woods. The monkeys, of course, ate freely, and many of them became deathly sick. Yet, strangely enough, none of them died. It was found that on feeling the symptoms the victims distinctly consulted with their "elders," who recommended the leaves of the "tremblant" as an antidote. This is a well-known weed, growing profusely in the Dutch Archipelago.

And it was found that when the animals were too ill to seek the "tremblant" themselves, they instructed friends and relatives to go into the woods and bring quantities of the curative leaf. This discovery has so interested the Batavian authorities in Java that the colonial physicians have begun a series of experiments on the curative qualities of the weed, thus taking a leaf from the monkey's pharmacopoeia.

Intimations.

A FAIR EXCHANGE.

Large sums of money are no doubt realized from simple speculation, but the great fortunes are derived from legitimate and honest business—where the goods furnished are worth the price they bring. Certain famous business men have accumulated their millions wholly in this way. Prompt and faithful in every contract or engagement they enjoy the confidence of the public and command a class of trade that is refused to unstable or tricky competitors. In the long run it does not pay to cheat or deceive others. Even a child or a dog soon learns to distinguish between real friends and foes in disguise. A humbug may be advertised with a noise like the blowing of a thousand trumpets, but it is soon detected and exposed. The manufacturers of have always acted on very different principles. Before offering it to the public they first made sure of its merits. Then, and then only, did its name appear in print. People were assured of what it would do, and found the statement truthful. To-day they believe in it as we all believe in the word of a tried and trusted friend. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It aids digestion, drives impurities from the blood and cures Anemia, Scrofula, Debility, Influenza, Throat and Lung Troubles, and Wasting Complaints. Dr. Louis W. Bishop says: "I take pleasure in saying I have found it a most efficient preparation, embodying all of the medicinal properties of a pure cod liver oil in a most palatable form." It stands in the front rank in the march of medicine. It is a scientific remedy and a food, with a delicious taste and flavour. No slow or doubtful action. "It cannot disappoint you." Sold by all chemists.

ON THE SUBJECT OF OPIUM.

It is seldom that the office of Secretary of State for India comes within the glare of the limelight, for the simple reason that the holder is more of a revising authority than an originator, with the result that Secretaries for India have had their brief reign and departed without leaving the slightest trace of their existence. It has happened, however, that Mr. John Morley, the present Secretary, has had to face a series of circumstances which have brought India and his office into prominence, and given one who is more of a literary recluse than an ambitious statesman the opportunity of showing his calibre. Whether the people of England, or, indeed, anybody without the confines of India, can form a just appreciation of the real meaning of the reform movement in that Empire, its objects and the character of its protagonists, is extremely doubtful, but it is unquestionable that so far as an Englishman can understand the situation and the general drift of popular opinion Mr. Morley has truly diagnosed the symptoms which work towards the unrest among the educated classes of Britain's great dependency. These matters are of no immediate concern to Hongkong—although their effects may eventually become palpable in trade—but one passage in Mr. Morley's speech, with reference to the opium question, is of direct and instant importance to this Colony, namely, the cultivation and exportation of Indian opium. After all, it is open to doubt whether the Imperial administrators have been quite as deluded regarding the intentions of China in the matter of restricting the use of opium, or blind to the difficult position in which such Colonies as Singapore and Hongkong will be placed when the opium prohibitive regulations have to be enforced, as was supposed. It is all very well for a few well-meaning individuals to talk at large about the disastrous effects which result from the opium habit, but it is not always apparent that these representatives of Cecil Rhodes phrase "unctuous rectitude" have done more than skim the surface of the problem. If vice and evil could be eradicated to-morrow it is safe to say that half the world and among that half a great proportion of the allegedly vicious and evil ones would combine to rid the earth of its noxious features. But vice and evil can no more be dissipated by a solution of political righteousness than chronic deformities can be removed by the bone doctor. Mr. Morley is a moralist and a practical politician, which is not altogether a peculiar combination in an English Minister, and in his Budget speech his practical common-sense was made evident over his moral views. He stated that he had received an enormous number of letters from churches and others who were deeply interested in the opium trade, and he paid a tribute to the sincerity of his correspondents; but he added a remark which must have given the "unco guid" pause for thought. He said: "They often use the expression 'righteousness before revenue.' Yes, but you must not satisfy your own righteousness at the expense of other people's revenue." Here was a home thrust which by no means suited a certain section of the emancipators, and a valiant member of the House jumped into the breach with the remark: "We are quite prepared to bear the expense of our righteousness." Well and good, but the dry rejoinder of Mr. Morley will be appreciated by those who are not led away by visionary schemes. He said: "I present that observation hopefully to the Chancellor of the Exchequer—well no, not very hopefully." Do these disinterested philanthropists of England propose to compensate the Crown Colonies of the Far East for the reduction in revenue which must inevitably be suffered as the result of their rhinocerosian legislation? If so, then there is no problem whatever to be solved, no ways and means to be devised, no capricious estimates to be overhauled, no imposition of inordinate burdens to be mitigated. The way is clear and straight, and in spite of all that has been said and done the Crown Colonies of the Far East will be as they were. But even so, do these babblers of fastidious tendencies fancy that the opium trouble will be ended? Possibly they do, but as everyone with any experience of China will admit, they are liable to see their views rudely shattered. Two millions sterling is a conservative estimate of the annual amount which will compensate for the loss of the opium trade in Singapore and Hongkong, and the British elector, who is prepared to divert that sum from the Imperial exchequer for a questionable advantage must be either very thick-headed or generous by proxy. The opium question is by no means settled as yet either in India or in China, and despite all the efforts of the regenerators in England and America it will remain a problem for many days to come. We say nothing about the inclination of the people of China, the essential features of the opium trade in Hongkong as well as in Singapore, the impetus that will be given to smuggling, the necessity for the provision of a preventive service, the undue taxation of an over-taxed population, in fine the absurdity of it all, but we leave it to the conscientious thinker whether the taste for opium among the Chinese can be determined before the arrival of the millennium.

In reply to Mr. Rees, Sir E. Grey said: The Chinese authorities have agreed, as an act of grace, to pay a sum of $15,000 in compensation for the injuries inflicted upon Mr. Radie and his companions, Dr. Horne. Of this sum it is proposed that Dr. Horne, who was much more seriously injured, should receive $10,000. Mr. Radie will therefore receive a sum of $5,000.

In Tinland hears that the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation have obtained the permission of the Secretary of State to opening out a branch in the Federated Malay States. The likelihood is that Kuala Lumpur may be the town selected for its scene of operations.

Sir Matthew Nathan was received in audience by His Majesty the King at Buckingham Palace on 13th ult. upon relinquishing his appointment as Governor of Hongkong, and kissed hands upon his appointment as Governor of Natal. Colonel the Hon. H. C. Legge (Esquerry-in-Waiting) was in attendance.

INTELLIGENCE from Peking states that new quarters are about to be built for the accommodation of the infantry detachment stationed there. The detachment of the "Diehards" is now under canvas, the old quarters, once a portion of the Empress's Court, being in the process of demolition. By all accounts the Middlesex men are having a fairly good time of it.

AN unknown Chinaman, between thirty and forty years of age, was this morning found hanging from the branch of a tree at King's Park rifle range, at Kowloon. He was cut down by a number of soldiers, who made the discovery, and sent to the mortuary for identification. Deceased evidently had been suffering from bad health and it is believed in difficult circumstances, which led him to suicide.

ON the Civil Service Recreation Club's ground, at Happy Valley, yesterday afternoon, a very interesting game of bowls was played between the Civil Service and a picked team representing the Police. The following played for the police: Inspector Cameron (skip), Inspectors Withers and McHardy and Sergeant Pitt. The players for the Civil Service were Sanitary Inspectors Brett (skip), and Fletcher, Bond and Kelly. The police ran out victorious by six points, having scored 26 to the Civil Service 20.

CHAN MAU, a street conchie, and 'Kun Tak, a lighterman, were once the best friends. Somehow or other, but through no fault of his own, Chan's brother had to go to goal last week, and it was then that intimate relations between the two friends stopped, as Chan believed that Kun was instrumental in sending his brother to durance. Not only did the friendship come to an end, but Chan hoped to meet Kun one day. His opportunity came last night. The two men met in Reclamation Street, Yau-mati. Kun is at present in the hospital, suffering from a scalp wound, inflicted with an iron bar. Chan is under arrest awaiting trial.

A WELL-known pickpocket named Chan Fuk, who said he was a bricklayer by trade, will be banished from the Colony in six weeks' time. On two occasions Chan was charged with theft and the defence he put up had so much effect on the magistrate that he was given the benefit of the doubt on each occasion and discharged. To-day his downfall came about. His defence failed. Chan got into a crowd yesterday afternoon in Wing Lok Street. He got busy at once and relieved a shopkeeper, who carries on a business in Queen's Road West, of $20 in silver. Then he tried to do the disappearing trick, but he was seized by the crowd, and handed over to a policeman. Chan was arraigned before Mr. G. N. Orme, at the Police Court, to-day, and sentenced to six weeks' hard labour and six hours' stocks.

THE 13th Rajputs (the Shekhawati Regiment), which has been placed on the roster to relieve the 19th Infantry (the Mooltan Regiment) at Hongkong, is an old and distinguished corps. It was formed in 1817, and was long known as the 12th Bengal Infantry, or Shekhawati Battalion. It fought through the Sikh War, 1846, and rendered good service at Sir Harry Smith's magnificent victory at Aliwal, when with a force of under 12,000 men he defeated 20,000 of the brave enemy, and it rendered equally good service in the prolonged Afghan Campaign of 1879-80. It was last on active service in the Chitral Expedition, 1895. The honours on its regimental colours are "Aliwal," "Afghanistan," and "Chitral." The regiment, which is presently stationed at Alipore, is commanded by Lieut.-Colonel W. Prior, who served with it at Chitral, and who also saw fighting in the Sikh Expedition, 1846, and the Manipure Expedition, 1891, for which he holds two medals with three clasps.

At a recent sale at Christie's a pair of Kang He eggshell lanterns of almost fairy-like fragility decorated in rich enamel with a mandarin and two charming Chinese ladies on a balcony in familiar vesture, with tulle and key-pattern bands in coral and green colours—all this beauty contained in the height of 8½ in.—were sold, and realized the highest price ever paid at auction in England for a pair of Chinese eggshell lanterns. A start was made at £500 and left to fight for the possession of these objects, Messrs. Duveen and Gorst raised the price to £1,837 10s. before the Old Bond-street firm acknowledged defeat. It will be remembered that it was they who paid the former record sum, £1,200, in the Huth sale, for a pair of lanterns. In the same sale they gave £15 for an eggshell plate, and Mr. Larkin secured for £410 an ivory lamp. The following pieces of Chinese porcelain sold well:—A seated figure of Kwan Yin made 1504 10s. (Charles); four similar figures of various sizes and hues fetched £68 10s. Messrs. Charles and Gorst being the buyers; and a hexagonal cup, Kang He, 1505 (Sparks).

FRENCH NATIONAL HOLIDAY.

PROPOSED CELEBRATIONS AT CANTON.

Just as the 4th of July is the great American festival to the 14th July is the Frenchman's opportunity for his innate love of enjoyment. This year the French community in Hongkong is to do itself in the Shamen and in order to allow Hongkong residents an opportunity of witnessing the celebrations at Shamen of the French National Fete, a picnic is being organized on board the s.s. Toul Beau. The vessel will leave Hongkong on Saturday first at 11 p.m., from the Wing Lok Street wharf, will arrive in Canton at 8 a.m., Sunday, and will leave again for Hongkong about midnight. The project which is organized at the request of the committee of the Fete at Shamen, gives residents in Hongkong an opportunity of visiting the City, and also of taking part in the afternoon festival, as well as to see the display of fireworks in the evening in front of the French Concession. The programme is as follows:—Samedi, 10th, from 5 to 7, musique au Jardin Francais; from 9.30 to 11.30 grand concert. ## BELLI'S ASBESTOS MASTERN AGENCY LIMITED.

The twelfth annual report states:—The business has continued to make satisfactory progress, the profit, inclusive of the amount brought forward from previous years, showing a credit balance of £3,404 3s. 8d. The directors recommend that this amount be allocated as follows:—To set aside £485 8s. 3d. to "Reserve" for bad and doubtful debts and depreciation on stock, &c., to write £700 off "Purchase of Trading Rights" to pay a dividend of 1 per cent. for the year, free of income-tax, absorbing £480 10s. and to carry forward £638 5s. 5d. to the next account; the sum carried includes provision for payment on June 1 of the sum of £500 off the debenture, in terms of the bond.

CHINA SQUADRON.

Mr. Rees asked the Secretary to the Admiralty whether any battleship was included in the China Squadron at the present time, and whether, if the answer be in the negative, the American, French, and German Eastern fleets were in like manner composed exclusively of cruisers, destroyers, and smaller vessels.

Mr. E. Robertson: There is no battleship in the China Squadron at the present time; and, except the Redoubtable, a third class battleship of the French navy, launched in 1876, in commission at Saigon, and two armoured coast defence ships of the United States navy in reserve in the Philippines; the ships composing the French, American, and German squadrons in the Eastern seas are of the classes referred to in the question.

Mr. Rees: Is it not the case, that no superiority of cruisers, destroyers, and smaller vessels can compensate for the absence of a battleship?

Mr. Robertson said notice of the question must be given.

THE DEFENCE OF SHANGHAI.

Mr. Rees asked the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs what force, naval, military, and police, was available at Shanghai for the defence of British interests and of British trade.

Sir E. Grey: On December 31 last the force available for the defence of the European community in the international settlement at Shanghai was as follows:—Volunteers, 44 officers and 930 non-commissioned officers and men. Police, European, 130; Indian, 201; Chinese, 753. In addition, foreign warships of small draught can ascend the river as far as Shanghai, and large ships can get to within 15 miles of Shanghai. It frequently happens that one or more foreign warships are lying in the river.

BANGKOK PADDY CROP.

People in Bangkok, especially traders in rice, looking forward to a bumper crop this year, as the rains began in good time and are not excessive. Evidently, this is not the case all over Siam. A headman of a village in the Anthon district says that there had been too much rain and water in some parts of the country. The superfluity of water kills the young paddy shoots, where the land is low. It is not perhaps well known that after the seeds are sown and before transplantation, the water rises in the fields and the paddy crop keeps pace with the rise in water, always holding its head above the level of water. But the paddy plant should not be too young, or else it will be killed by being submerged in water. We hear that this is the case in many places, and a little more of rain or any further influx of water at the present time will shatter the fond hopes of a bumper crop.—Siam Observer.

THE WEATHER.

The following report is from Mr. F. G. Figg, Director of the Hongkong Observatory:—(On the 11th at 11.55 a.m.)—The barometer has fallen generally, particularly over Japan. The shallow depression appears to be moving Eastwards over the S. part of the Sea of Japan. Pressure is still relatively high over the N. part of the China Sea.

Fresh S. monsoon may be expected in the Formosa Channel, and light variable winds over the N. part of the China Sea. A heavy rain-fall for the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. to-day, 0.00 inch.

1.—Hongkong and neighbourhood. S.W. winds, light to moderate; fair.
2.—Formosa Channel, S. winds, fresh.
3.—South coast of China between Hongkong and Lamook, same as No. 1.
4.—South coast of China between Hongkong and Hainan, same as No. 1.

INDO-CHINA STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The directors of the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company, Limited, report that the adverse conditions of trade mentioned in the last report unfortunately continued in an accentuated form during 1906, and the superabundance of tonnage on the coast caused low rates of freight throughout the year, the relief by homeward clearances being slow in reducing competition. There has since, however, been considerable reduction in shipping by diversion elsewhere, and a return to more normal conditions is now taking place, as it did when over-supply after the China-Japanese War, 1896, required time for dispersion. A typhoon of exceptional violence, swept over Hongkong in September, causing extensive damage to shipping and property; but the steamers of the company, fortunately, escaped with but little injury; indeed, during the year no serious casualty has occurred, and the underwriting account has the substantial balance of £170,000 at its credit. The directors, notwithstanding the difficulties of the year, have again allocated a very large sum to the depreciation of the fleet (£72,833), which has been provided by the transfers from exchange and underwriting accounts and from the general reserve fund, and after meeting all expenses for the year, there remains a balance of £16,091, out of which the directors recommend a dividend of 2½ per cent. carrying forward £3694 to 1907. The Long Wo, a steamer constructed by the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Company for the company's Yangtze service, has been added to the fleet, and since the closing of the accounts for the year 1906 the small steamer Columbia has been sold. The articles of association have been revised, and the capital, formerly represented by £10 shares, has been divided into equal moieties represented by preferred ordinary shares, which carry a cumulative dividend of 6 per cent., and deferred ordinary shares. The directors propose shortly to make an issue of debentures, in order that the indebtedness of the company may be consolidated. Particulars will be sent to shareholders and an opportunity afforded them of participating in the issue.

PUBLIC COMPANIES.

POWER TO INCREASE CAPITAL.

Dealing with the recent resolutions of the Bangkok Dock Co., Ltd., to increase its capital, the Siam Observer writes editorially on 29th ult. At yesterday's meeting of the Bangkok Dock Company there was some uncertainty about a point of law. The point was whether the directors' resolution, increasing the capital, required a unanimous vote or whether it could be carried by majority—a three-fourths majority. It was contended on the one hand that a single adverse vote would bar the resolution, and on the other hand that the decision of the majority would hold good legally. The Dock Company is under Siamese law. There is no Companies' law in Siam yet, though one is being framed; but it may be taken that the Siamese Courts would follow the usual foreign precedents applicable to a case. Quoting from Lindley, the British law may be stated as follows:—A Company has no power to increase its capital unless such power is expressly conferred upon it, or unless all the shareholders agree to subscribe or raise more than the sum originally determined; and, if the capital of the Company is fixed by charter, letters patent, or special Act, and no power is given to increase it, such capital cannot be increased even by the consent of all the members of the Company, and the rule is that in the absence of special powers the capital of the Company cannot be increased against the will of a single dissentient shareholder.

In the case of the Bangkok Dock Co. such power is expressly conferred upon it by the Articles of Association: Article 44 gives the Company power to increase its capital—the special power which is necessary. It not only provides for the increase of capital but for the terms of issue of new shares, for the offering of new shares to shareholders, and for the new capital being considered part of the original, unless otherwise ordered. There is no doubt about the power to increase the capital. As to voting, the rule with regard to extraordinary matters, like the increasing of capital—is the passing by a three-fourths majority. This rule evidently holds good in the present case. In the absence of special powers, as above stated, the capital could not be increased against the will of a single dissentient shareholder. But the special powers are here present. Every shareholder has accepted them in the articles of association. Therefore the rule that, in the absence of special powers the capital cannot be increased against the will of a single dissentient shareholder, does not apply. The three-fourths rule holds good. When absolute unanimity is required is where no powers already exist. In the case of the Bangkok Dock Company the powers do exist, so that absolute unanimity is not necessary. That, we believe, is the correct legal view of the matter. As to what might be done with a dissentient shareholder refusing to pay his calls, we believe, as a matter of law, that the Company would have a claim upon the amounts due to him in dividends, and might apply this money to making up the amount of his call, which would be treated as a debt to the Company.

V.R.C. vs. 8TH CO., R.G.A.

Another friendly match was played yesterday afternoon at the V.R.C. enclosure, which resulted in a win for the V.R.C. by 5 goals to one. The first half was a very hard and fast one, and the first goal was scored by Gunner Flitwin for the 8th Co., R.G.A. During the first half the V.R.C. men had many good tries, but could not succeed in getting the ball in. But in the second half, the V.R.C. men played very well, and managed to score three goals, all to the credit of N. H. Alves. The V.R.C. team were as follows:—L. E. Lammert (Capt.), F. K. Tata, O. R. Chunyut, P. M. Remedios, A. J. V. Ribeiro, N. H. Alves and Sayer.

CANTON DAY BY DAY.

THE COMING OF SHUM.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 10th July.
H.E. Viceroy Shum's memorial asking the Throne to grant him further extension of sick leave reached Peking on the 6th inst. The Throne has refused his request and has ordered him to proceed to Canton immediately on expiry of his last leave.

The Canton paper On Ngai Po states that their Shanghai correspondent has wired them to the effect that H.E. Viceroy Shum would leave Shanghai for the South on the 1st day of the 6th moon, i.e., to-day.

A RUMOUR.
It is rumoured that as the Liang Kiang Provinces are now in a state of unrest through the activity of the anti-mongolists, the Central Government will transfer H.E. Viceroy Shum thither and appoint H.E. Tuan Fang to Canton.

GUNBOATS FOR KWANGTUNG.
The Ministry of War (Luchunpu) of Peking has granted H.E. Viceroy Shum's request for authority for the building of five gunboats in Japan for the use of the Liang Kwang Provinces. The Ministry has telegraphed to H.E. Shum informing him of the fact.

KWANGAI RICE.
The Canton Cheap Rice Disposal Office has telegraphed to H.E. Viceroy Shum thanking him for his favour in getting the removal of the prohibition of rice from Kwangai to Canton and thus relieving to a great extent the present rice famine. This telegram also expressed the wish that H.E. might see his way clear to come to Canton at an early date, as the Canton people are, at present anxiously looking forward to his arrival in the South.

CHOW FU HOMEWARD BOUND.
A telegram received here yesterday states that H.E. ex-Viceroy Chow Fu arrived at Shanghai safely on the 7th inst. and left the following day per s.s. Cheng Kong for his family home.

CANTON ARSENAL.

THE ARREST OF MR. CHUNG.

With reference to your report in Monday's issue of the Telegraph of the arrest of Mr. Chung Wing Kwong, a well known Chinese teacher of the Canton Christian College, the Canton scholars and students, who hold Mr. Chung in high esteem, have signed a petition to be submitted to H.E. Yuan Shi Kai praying for Mr. Chung's release.

CHEAP RICE.

A meeting was held yesterday at the principal Rice Disposal Office to fix a date for the discontinuance of the cheap disposal of rice. Mr. Chan Heung-in proposed that as the price of rice is still very high and as the first crop of rice of this year did not come up to expectation, it would be advisable to continue the cheap disposal of rice to some future date to be fixed by a subsequent meeting. The above resolution was passed together with another resolution recording the services rendered by H.E. Viceroy Shum in getting the removal of the prohibition on rice from Kwangai, and forwarding H.E. a telegram thanking him for his great services.

RAILWAY TENDERS.

Tsai Kwong, the engineer-in-chief of the Yuet-han Railway Company, was yesterday at the Company's Head Office to be present at the opening of tenders for the construction of further sections of the railway. Several tenders for the work were accepted.

RIOTS IN CHINA.

On 10th ult. Mr. Lonsdale asked the Secretary for Foreign Affairs whether he had any information respecting the riots in China; and whether any steps had been taken to protect the interests of His Majesty's subjects in the disturbed district.

Mr. Runciman: Telegraphic inquiries have been made of His Majesty's Minister at Peking. He states that His Majesty's Consul at Amoy reports that the surrounding country is free from disturbance, and that His Majesty's Consul at Swatow states that the accounts in the newspapers of local disturbances have been exaggerated, and that there has never been the slightest occasion for uneasiness. The riots were dispersed at once by the Chinese authorities.

METEOROLOGICAL SIGNALS.

Meteorological signals are hoisted on the mast beside the Time-ball at Kowloon Point for the information of masters of vessels leaving the port. They do not necessarily imply that bad weather is expected here:—

Signal No.

1. A CONE point upwards indicates a Typhoon to the North of the Colony.

2. A CONE point upwards and DRUM below indicates a Typhoon to the North-East of the Colony.

3. A DRUM indicates a Typhoon to the East of the Colony.

4. A CONE point downwards and DRUM below indicates a Typhoon to the South-East of the Colony.

5. A CONE point downwards indicates a Typhoon to the South of the Colony.

6. A CONE point downwards and BALL below indicates a Typhoon to the South-West of the Colony.

7. A BALL indicates a Typhoon to the West of the Colony.

8. A CONE point upwards and BALL below indicates a Typhoon to the North-West of the Colony.

Red Signals indicate that the centre is believed to be more than 300 miles away from the Colony.

Black Signals indicate that the centre is believed to be less than 300 miles away from the Colony.

The above signals will, as heretofore, be hoisted only when typhoons exist in such positions or are moving in such directions that information regarding them is considered to be of importance to the Colony or to shipping leaving the harbour.

These signals are repeated at the Harbour Office, H.M.S. Tamar, Green Island Signal Mast, and the Flagstaff on the premises of the Hongkong and Kowloon Wharf and Godown Company at Kowloon.

URGENT SIGNAL.

In addition to the above, when it is expected that the wind may increase to full typhoon force at any moment, the following Urgent Signal will be made at the Water Police Station, and repeated at the Harbour Office:—

THREE EXPLOSIVE BOMBS, AT INTERVALS OF TEN SECONDS.

A Black Cross will be hoisted at the same time, superior to the other shapes.

NIGHT SIGNALS.

The following Night Signals will be exhibited from the Flagstaff on the roof of the Water Police Station at Kowloon, the Harbour Office Flagstaff, and H.M.S. Tamar.

I. Three Lights Vertical, Green Green Green, indicates that a typhoon is believed to be situated more than 300 miles from the Colony.

II. Three Lights Vertical, Green Red Green, indicates that a typhoon is believed to be situated less than 300 miles from the Colony.

III. Three Lights Vertical, Red Green Red, indicates that the wind may be expected to increase to full typhoon force at any moment.

No. III. Signal will be accompanied by the Explosive Bombs, as above, in the event of the information conveyed by this signal being first published by night.

These Night Signals will be substituted for the Day Signals at sunset, and will, when necessary, be altered during the night.

SUPPLEMENTARY WARNINGS.

For the benefit of Native Craft and passing Ocean Vessels, a Cone will be exhibited at each of the following stations during the time that any of the above Day Signals are hoisted in the Harbour.

Gap Rock. Aberdeen.

Waglan. Sai Kung.

Stanley. Tai Po.

Cape Collinson.

This will indicate that there is a depression somewhere in the China Sea, and that a Storm Warning is hoisted in the Harbour.

Further details can always be given in Ocean Vessels, on demand, by signal, from the Light-houses.

W. DOBSON,
Director.

THE HUMAN BODY.

In the human body there are about 263 bones.

The muscles are about 500 in number.

The length of the alimentary canal is about 31ft.

The amount of blood in an adult averages 30lb, or fully one-fifth of the entire weight.

The heart is about four inches in diameter, and about six inches in length; beating 70 times a minute, 4,200 times an hour, 100,800 times a day, and over 36,000,000 times a year!

At each beat of the heart over two ounces of blood are thrown out of it, 180 ounces a minute, 600 pounds an hour, and about eight tons per day.

All the blood in the body passes through the body in three minutes. This little organ, by its ceaseless industry, pumps each day what is equal to lifting 130 tons one foot high, or one ton 130ft high.

The lungs contain about one gallon of air at their usual degree of inflation. We breathe, on an average, 12,000 times an hour, inhale 600 gallons of air, or 34,000 quarts a day. The aggregate surface of the air cells of the lungs exceeds 20,000 square inches.

The average weight of the brain of an adult male is 3lb 8oz; of a female, 2lb 4oz.

The skin is composed of three layers, and varies from one-eighth to one-quarter of an inch in thickness. Each square inch of skin contains 3,500 sweating tubes, or perspiratory pores, each of which may be likened to a little drain pipe, one-quarter of an inch long, making an aggregate length over the entire surface of the body of 20,166 ft., or a ditch for draining the body almost 40 miles long.

The nerves probably exceed 10,000,000 in number.

The nerve and the nerve system are all connected by the spinal marrow, and together with their branches and ramifications, form a body-guard probably exceeding 10,000,000.

PENS THAT HAVE SIGNED TREATIES.

THE ANCIENT QUILL.

Pens that have been used by Royal personages, distinguished statesmen, and famous persons in signing decrees, treaties, and other important documents, have always been cherished, and it was recently stated that one of the colonial Premiers has taken home with him a quill pen as a souvenir, which will probably some day be a valuable and coveted possession.

The great historic interest attaching to the pens used in signing the peace treaty between Russia and Japan at Portsmouth, U.S.A., was evidenced by the extraordinary keenness of makers in all parts of the world to gain the distinction of supplying them.

Pens poured in from dozens of different manufacturers; and to avoid disappointing any of these enterprising firms, it was decided that the treaty should be signed with quill pens.

This was quite in accord with precedent, as well as the eternal fitness of things; for, as a matter of fact, such momentous documents as peace and other treaties have more often than not been signed with the good old-fashioned quills.

If the newspaper reports can be believed, however, quill pens were, notwithstanding the announcement previously made, not used at the signing of the treaty. The two Russian representatives are said to have subscribed their signatures with pens brought from the Foreign Office at St. Petersburg. The holders are described as being of brown-coloured wood, tipped with black horn.

The Japanese Envoys likewise came equipped with their own pens, though they are reported to have bought theirs in the United States.

It is understood that on each side the signatories retained their pens after the signing of the treaty, though it would, perhaps, have been a graceful act to present them to the President who brought them together.

Though their intrinsic value is practically nil, these pens always command high prices when offered for sale by public auction. Not long ago there was offered for sale in Vienna the pen which was used at Paris ninety-two years ago by the high signatories to the treaty embodying what is known as the Holy Alliance.

They were the Czar Alexander I. of Russia, the Emperor Francis I. of Austria, and King Frederick William III. of Prussia, who, on September 26, 1815, with this pen subscribed their signatures to the treaty, which, it is interesting to recall, was actually drawn up by the first-named.

The first bid for the precious relic, which was the property of the late Count Falkenh
